Now Linda Can Wear

pretty Y

Linda then... and Linda now

Six-year-old Linda Brees of Columbus, Ohio, has been crippled from birth. She suffered from a birth defect, a disorder which seriously affects one out of every 10 babies born in the United States.

When Linda was old enough to walk, she could get around only with the aid of stumps on her legs. That meant wearing heavy, ankle-high shoes which were not very pretty for a little girl who was otherwise developing into a real beauty.

Children with significant birth defects, known medically as congenital malformations, often face a lifetime of crippling. But there was hope in Linda's case. In her hometown, at the Columbus Children's Hospital, a new center especially designed to treat birth defects was set up with the support of the New March of Dimes fund. It is probably the world's first birth defects treatment and study center.

Linda began a series of surgical operations, treatments and exercises to strengthen the muscles she still had in her legs. Today she no longer needs the braces and can even ride a tricycle. Though she still uses crutches, the doctors at the Columbus center hope that she may soon be able to abandon them. Meanwhile, what delights Linda most is that, like other little girls, she can now wear pretty shoes.

The New March of Dimes campaign in January, 1960, is aimed at three major crippling diseases, including arthritis and polio in addition to birth defects. It is estimated that one out of every four American families is affected by these disorders. Linda's progress toward a healthy, normal life symbolizes the hope held out by the New March of Dimes for millions of sufferers from crippling diseases.

Business & Financial Forecast For '60

BY ROGER W. BABSON

1. Naturally, as I am just back from Moscow and Berlin, my first thoughts are what will happen to Berlin in 1960. My answer is definitely "NOTHING TO HAPPEN." Mr. K will make no more ultimata; President Eisenhower will continue his peace talks. Therefore the Berlin situation will be just the same in 1960 and 1961 as it is today.

2. There will be no World War started between Russia and the United States in 1960. This does not mean that such a war will not come within 10 years; but just now neither country is ready for it. I am convinced of this after my recent visit to Moscow.

3. Airplane warfare with the dropping of bombs is a thing of the past. We are turning to rocketry with pinpoint precision. Our expensive air bases may gradually be vacated.

4. Moscow is Mr. K's "pride and joy." It is a beautiful city with broad streets and thousands of new apartment houses. Mr. K does not want it destroyed. Furthermore, he wants a reduction in armaments so that he will have money to raise the standard of living in Russia. I forecast he will have to do this in order to hold his power.

5. We first feared a "shooting war" now we are in a "cold war," but we will soon be in an "educational war." In 1960 the United States will expend far greater effort on education.

6. Along with the effort to improve education during 1960, I forecast that our teachers will be given a minimum salary of $5,000 and that all schools of all states will receive federal aid.

7. I forecast that instead of spending so much money on new school buildings, municipalities will give more attention to discipline, motivation, and sitting, and to the teaching of mathematics, physics, and chemistry in both grammar and high schools.

8. I forecast that some of those who have gone into business will seek teaching jobs, which will be a major factor in postponing World War III. School teaching will be a part of our national defense.

9. The Russians are afraid of China, which I hope to visit again in 1960. Hence, I forecast that more friendly relations will develop between China and the United States during 1960.

10. Space travel to the moon is largely for propaganda purposes and to take our minds off of the military phases of rocketry, submarines, and breaking the earth's crust. Only the fear of retaliation will prevent the Russians from starting a world war.

POLITICAL OUTLOOK

11. I will now forecast who the Republican candidates in 1960 will be: Nixon and Rockefeller.

12. The Democratic candidates will be: Kennedy, Johnson, and Stevenson.

13. Kennedy "screwed up," but Johnson and Stevenson, and even Stevenson, have large followings.

14. I forecast that relations with Russia will become far more important than the question of inflation.

15. The Republican slogan in 1960 will be: "It is always dangerous to swap horses going across a rapid stream. I therefore forecast that the Republicans will survive at least a 50-50 chance of power in 1960.

16. In fact, on the basis of their slogan, I look for a Republican victory, though with a very close margin.

17. I forecast no reduction in taxes of any consequence during 1960.

18. I predict that present defense expenditures will be reduced and the money spent on rocketry, submarines, breaking the earth's crust, and education.

19. I forecast an attempt in 1960 to increase tariffs on goods imported from Germany, Italy, Japan, and other cheap labor countries.

20. I expect 1960 to be a "do-nothing" year for our Congress. Both parties will be working for continued prosperity.

COST OF LIVING

21. I forecast no substantial reduction in living costs during 1960. The newly imported cheap, low-priced automobiles are here to stay. Their importation cannot be checked.

22. Electric power rates will be lowered in 1960.

23. Clothing should cost less in 1960. In fact, most textiles and plastics will sell for less in 1960. Soap and all forms of washing powder will sell for less in 1960. This applies also to wonder dyes and other chemical products.

24. Cost of wooden homes — due to labor — will advance in price during 1960. Cement and modern machinery will displace bricklaying. Hence, there may not be a rise in the cost of building fireproof apartment houses.

25. The cost of electronic machinery should be higher because of the growing demand for electronic equipment in the defense industry. The cost of steel (especially stainless) — from the tableware used in homes to the steel used to build bridges — will be in great demand in 1960.

26. The demand for most food products will increase during 1960. This should especially help the United Fruit Company, as bananas give the most nourishment, at the least cost, of any known food.

27. The cost of maintenance, and taxes. But supermarkets will compete with one another and the housewife should benefit therefrom.

28. Florida is a good place for mid-aged people to buy a home in a small city as insurance for the time when they retire. Persons buying such homes should depend upon a check from the North Carolina State Department of Education. Only the fear of retaliation will prevent the Russians from starting a world war.

29. The price of city real estate will depend upon its parking privileges. Wise municipal officials will put up more parking lots and municipal garages much more plentiful.

30. The above also applies to suburban real estate. Zoning laws will require houses to have vacant adjoining lots sufficient for present and future parking needs.

31. The demand for modern stores and for centrally located apartments will continue to increase during 1960.

32. I forecast that those building a "single" house for their own use in 1960.

33. In fact, on the basis of their

Expect Many More Entries

Snow Sculpture Contest Will Get Started During This Next Month

The Snow Sculpture contest which was begun in 1958 is going to be continued again this year with an expected high increase in entries. Robert Hayes, secretary-manager of the Crawford County Chamber of Commerce announces. The contest this year will be opened up to any organized group such as church groups, Boy and Girl Scout troops as well as the classes in any of the county schools.

Each leader, class president or elected or named snow sculpture chairman must register at the Chamber of Commerce office on Saturday, January 30th and must be given details of the contest will be given them at that time.

As of the present time, $120 has been pledged for prize money in the contest. Herbert Holmes, new owner of Spike's Keg O' Nails has offered $20 as did Spike MacNeven in 1958 whose idea for the contest sparked the original try. They are the Kiwanis Club of Grayling, Chamber of Commerce, Grayling Business Association, the City of Grayling and the Grayling Women's Club.

Plans now call for the City of Grayling to deposit a huge amount of snow near the City Water Tower on US-27 by the fourth weekend of January. The snow statues are to be completed by Saturday, January 30th and must be maintained through the Grayling Winter Sports Carnival weekend.

There is a possibility of more money yet coming in for prizes. Last year, the money was divided into three prizes, $50, $30 and $20. If more classes enter and more money is available, probably the prizes will be split into more prizes of different value. Frank Bond, High School science instructor and Chamber director said, Mr. Bond is heading the project both for the school and the Chamber.

The snow sculptures will be flood-lighted at night through the courtesy of the City of Grayling, City Manager Russell Carlson said.

N. Y. C. Church Article Lauds Late Mrs. Wolff

The following article is reprinted in full from the November issue of "Fifth Avenue Voice," a publication of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church of New York City.

"Mrs. Herbert W. Wolff died, in Grayling, Michigan, on October 30, 1959. In her going the Woman's Association, the Voice Board, and the entire church are losing one of their beloved members. Mrs. Wolff will be remembered by many people with whom she shared her many interests. Outstanding was her work during World War II with men and women of the Armed Forces. They knew that she and her committee would be at the church door to welcome them on Sundays after the morning service to take them to the Barbizon for dinner. Then she would write to their mothers. A beautiful Chinese chest on the fifth floor of the Church House filled with this unique correspondence and displaying the official citations she received is a quiet witness to this labor of love.

Mrs. Wolff was greatly concerned that everything in the Church House be just right and, as chairman of the Church Aid Committee, Mrs. Wolff carried on, in her wishes. Every floor in the building was her touch — always a touch of beauty. Her most recent gift was the Cross that hangs in the chapel.

The war over, Mrs. Wolff turned her attention to programs; beautiful Christmas programs among others; an evening of tableaux "Women of the Bible" another evening of tableaux "The American when she arranged one of her favorite programs, "Songs of Long Ago." She had many friends among the theatre people who were glad to lend of their time and talent to give an extra sparkle to her programs.

Another song of long ago has been sung, but the melody lingers on."

Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Szkotnicki and daughter Yvette of Erie, Pa., were to fly to Midland Christmas Eve and be met there by her father, Ted Stephan who was to bring them here for Christmas and the weekend. They planned to fly back home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sorenson and children left Wednesday morning for Lansing to visit her mother, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Fisher, until the day after Christmas.

Towns Need To Be Friendly

If you had your choice of a number of communities in which to live, you probably would ask many questions about these towns before making your choice.

After narrowing the list to a few places, you probably would visit each one, to see which town appeared to be the most friendly and desirable place to live.

One question that would be uppermost in your mind would be "are the people friendly?"

Grayling makes much the same type of approach when it starts looking for a place to locate a new plant, or when it decides to move.

The attitude of the people in a community toward industry is studied very carefully by an industry or business considering that area for its future home.

If the attitude is friendly and cooperative, that may be the determining factor in the decision as to which community gets the new industry or the expanded facilities of a company that finds it must have more plant space.

A good industrial climate is the business of everyone in a community. One "knockout" may spoil the favorable impression of a community by a company seeking a new place to locate.

The importance of a good community climate is the theme of an advertisement entitled "For Want Of A Nail," which appears in the Avalanche today.

It is another in a series of industrial development articles being published by the Michigan Press Association and the Michigan Economic Development Department which appear in this and 318 other Michigan newspapers as a public service.

Alien Address Report Program Underway

Mr. Walter A. Sahli, District Director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, is today that the annual alien address report program is again under way.

According to Mr. Sahli, 168,000 aliens reported to the State of Michigan. The number this year is expected to be slightly larger. Mr. Sahli attributes this anticipated increase to additional persons coming to the State of Michigan.

The Immigration officials pointed out that the address reports are required by law and willful failure to comply with these requirements may lead to serious consequences.

Forms with which to make the reports are available at all Post Offices and Immigration Offices. It is an easy matter to fill out one of the cards and return it to the same office.

Mr. Sahli added that trained personnel will be on hand in all Immigration Offices to answer any questions the reporting aliens may have regarding immigration and naturalization matters. Sufficient trained personnel are not available to furnish this service in all Post Offices.

Archers in Michigan

Rabbits have moved into Michigan's hunting limelight, and many of the sportsmen who will be out during the next two months pursuing cottontails in the south part of the state and snowshoes up north won't be using shotguns. They will be after the furry cannonballs with bow and arrow. In fact, says the Michigan Bow Hunters Association, there are a surprising number of archers who will tell you that stalking bunnies with a bow is just about as exciting as hunting deer. It's not easy, either, and when you bag a rabbit that way — like the bow hunter admiring a fine cottontail in the picture at right — you have every reason to be proud. Archers, when hunting rabbits and other small game, commonly use blunt heads on their arrows. The photograph at left compares four different blunts with a big game broadhead and an aluminum field arrow used for tournament and target shooting. The blunts, the Michigan Bow Hunters point out, are specially designed to kill instantly by concussion and shock.

Seek To Avoid Death On Highways During Holidays

WILL YOU SUFFER the loss of a loved one before the end of the holiday season? An extra effort to see that you don't is underway by the Michigan Highway Safety Commission and news media of the state.

Accidents and highway deaths increased during December. Few people like to discuss it, but a little thought right now might save your life, or your involvement in an accident costing someone's life.

"Drinking drivers or pedestrians account for 42% of the accidents," says Joseph A. Childs, commissioner of state police. "And this percentage is higher in December." Childs is not talking about drunks so much as the great number of moderate drinkers who are not considered drunk at all. Regardless of a person's capacity and attitudes about drinking, the hard fact is that people who have been drinking are involved in disproportionately high percent of accidents.

The moral is clear: If you drink, do not drive!

Extra driving care is required because of frosty windshields or icy roads. Carelessness is a vicious thing which is a danger to all drivers.

Childs pointed out that the "good" driver is commonly involved in serious accidents. "It's not fair to blame our whole problem on teenagers and drinking," he stated. "While these groups merit special consideration, it is important to realize that many names which appear on accident records are listed there for the first time. They have a long record of good driving — or maybe good luck — and in a moment of carelessness they become involved."

How do you keep the public concerned? That's the main problem faced by safety experts. Listed below are some topics they consider important:

There are 50,000 "accident prone" drivers on the roads today — 20,000 more than last year.

There is a great increase in the number of drivers without licenses. These include drivers whose licenses have expired, those who never received a license, and most importantly, drivers who have been ruled off the road. (Try an experiment. Right now, check the expiration date on your license. Then ask 10 of your friends to do the same. Chances are you would find someone whose license expired.)

Tougher enforcement by local officials will ask police officers to check licenses more carefully and urge judges to be more severe with drivers whose licenses have been revoked.

An effort to make it "vulgar, rather than 'wicked' to violate traffic regulations will be undertaken. A great part of the problem is considered to be the public's attitude about driving. The new concept, if it can be created, would help.

The push for a Christmas safety campaign is only part of the story. Those who work in this field know the problem requires constant and long term attention. Since many interested parties, including a Michigan Press Association Traffic Safety Committee, began work six years ago, a number of recommendations of traffic experts were put into effect. As the state's record improved substantially it seems the importance of these has slipped from public attention. There is belief that there should be a new emphasizing of these factors.

There was authorization, for instance, for 200 additional state troopers to cope with traffic problems. These men were hired. But 48 of these positions are now unfilled because of cut backs required by the state's financial position.

Exclusive of Detroit, the number of policemen assigned to traffic in Michigan cities, is 1,172 fewer than is recommended by standards devised by the National Safety Council.

Driver training in high school, considered by some to be the most important factor in reducing the death rate, is also an expensive matter. Some of the schools where effective programs have been conducted, have indicated that they may be dropped.

Strict enforcement of laws is effective but difficult to keep in effect. Courts and police departments reflect to a great extent the feeling of their communities. If people "just don't care," enforcement tends to lessen.

Improved roads have also reduced the death toll. But still more bridges need to be widened, curves regraded, trees cut down. These things are costly, but if the accident rate is to be reduced, the expenditures must be made.

Exactly 50 people died in traffic last year in the 78 hour period at Christmas. If the record is to be better this year, it will take the cooperation of all drivers.

If the number of people who are maimed or killed on streets and highway is to be reduced to the minimum over the next 12 months, it will take the attention and the effort of everyone.

Newspapers, radio and television have demonstrated their desire to keep this matter before the public. Safety organizations are anxious to work hard. Government officials want to do what they can. The big question is will the public get the message; understand and be willing to act for its own protection.

Every individual in the state has something to say about the answer.

Are you willing to do your part?

The New March of Dimes Targets

The theme selected for the New March of Dimes is a simple, direct statement: Prevent Crippling Diseases! Yet it says a number of things not always apparent to the average American.

Most of us are barely conscious of the crippled child or adult. We see a boy dragging along a braced leg trying to keep up with his playmates. The little girl on crutches or the man in a wheel chair are usually taken for granted as an unchanging way of life. There are many more handicapped thousands we never see at all living out their lives in hospitals and institutions.

Crippling has many causes. The New March of Dimes, drawing on the vast medical research experience of its parent organization, The National Foundation, singles out three major fields of crippling disease for a frontal attack. These are birth defects, arthritis and polio.

Here is the size of the problem:

Every year a quarter of a million infants—685 a day—are born with birth defects. At least half of them face a lifetime of serious chronic illness and disability.

Upwards of 11 million people in the United States alone are affected by arthritis and rheumatism. Apart from the physical pain, the economic loss to the nation tops $1.5-billion annually.

In polio The National Foundation continues its aid to over 50,000 patients, most of them paralyzed in previous years. The past year added many to the patient aid roster. The need for braces, crutches and wheel chairs, to say nothing of iron lungs, rocking beds and other respiratory aids, went on without respite.

This year when you join the New March of Dimes by giving your time and your money, you will be helping people toward a better life, protecting the nation against cripples that may attack even you and your family.

The "Isms" Defined . . .

Rep. Howard W. Robison (R-N. Y.) offered these definitions of government in a letter to constituents:

SOCIALISM — You have two cows and give one to your neighbor.

COMMUNISM — You have two cows; the government takes both and gives you some milk.

FASCISM — You have two cows; the government takes both and shoots you.

NEW DEALISM — You have two cows; The government buys both, shoots one, milks the other, and throws the milk away.

CAPITALISM — You have two cows; you sell one and buy a bull.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

December 31, 1936

A very pretty wedding took place Wednesday morning in St. Joseph's church at East Jordan, when Miss Frances Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Zoulek of that place, became the bride of Mr. Harold S. Edwards of Grayling. The Rev. Fr. Joseph Malinowski officiated at the ceremony. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents for the immediate family and a few friends of the young couple. Following a short honeymoon the newlyweds will be at home in Grayling.

Rain and warm weather played havoc with the winter sports skating rink and toboggan slides that had been built ready for use during the Christmas vacation; warm weather and three days of rain completely ruined them. Now it will be necessary to await snow and cold weather before they can be reconstructed. Within a few days Grayling's winter sports queen will be selected for the season.

The much talked-of sewage disposal plant has been approved by the Federal government with an outright grant of $7,200 to aid towards its erection. It is estimated the plant will cost in the neighborhood of $18,000, the city to finance the remainder. This is a PWA project and it is planned to start the work of building in April and it will be completed by July 1st. This will be located on the site of the old Danish gymnasium on the property recently purchased by the City from T. J. Wells. The City also has a $5,000 WPA project that was lately approved. This is for building an intercepting sewer from Cedar street to Maple street that is necessary in connection with the sewage disposal plant. This work it is expected will be completed in April.

Grayling Dairy has a new truck with which to start the year's business. It has a very neat sign displaying the well-known green labeled bottle, advertising "Winter Sports" and "Summer Vacations."

Carl Sorenson and family have moved into the Frank Tetu house on US-27. The Sorensons purchased this property recently.

We've got to give Blackie credit for giving the fellows about town what they want in the way of recreation. A new bowling alley is the latest venture and now we anticipate that Grayling will soon be putting on a bowling tournament. The alleys, of which there are three, are in the basement of his Tavern. They are the latest type.

The fire siren disturbed the peace of early Christmas night when a boxcar was discovered burning on the old DuPont side tracks.

Forrest Barber is spending the holidays with his family here. Mr. Barber recently resumed his position as salesman for the Simplicity Engineering Co., of Durand, with territory in Ohio.

Ray Stephan, son of John Stephan, Jr., was home over Christmas week. He is located in the Gibbs CCC camp in the U. P. While here the whole Stephan family were taken with sore throat and Ray, with the others, is unable to get out of the house. City Manager George Granger, O. M. Cody and Neil Mathews, accompanied by Alex Atkinson, will go to Chicago on January 6th to bring back the new fire-fighting equipment the city purchased this fall. The truck is mounted on a Chevrolet chassis and the special fire-fighting equipment, which is the latest on the market and modern to the minute, was installed at Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wright and daughter Mary Jane of Lansing spent Christmas and the following weekend with Mrs. Wright's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peck. Due to Mr. Peck's illness, he has been unable to go to Lansing this winter, as has been his custom formerly. His condition is slightly improved.

Edward Myotte spent the holiday weekend visiting his parents at Munising.

Miss Florence Butler of the City Office is spending the holidays visiting her father William Butler, in Detroit.

Harold Hatfield and family enjoyed a visit over Christmas from his mother, Mrs. Cole, and brother William Hatfield, of Detroit.

Michigan Memorial Church News

The Sunday School, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Howard Day produced a totally different kind of program on Sunday, December 13th. Parents and friends were invited to "come to the party," and in an informal, party atmosphere the previously prepared trees were decorated and many of the legends and traditions of the Christmas Tree were explained in an almost totally unheeded program of readings, scripture, carols and congregational singing. Even the tiniest members of the nursery class took their turn hanging ornaments on the branches. At the close of the program all the children returned to their class room and received a candy treat provided by the Men's Club.

Mary Martha Circle met in the chapel Tuesday evening, December 8th, and enjoyed a fine program of Christmas music presented by pupils of Mrs. Arthur Feldhauser. Later, refreshments were served and gifts exchanged before a blazing fire in the Children's Fellowship Hall.

Mary Ruth Circle held their Christmas meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Souder. The program centered around Mexican Christmas customs, and ended with Mary Ruth's annual cookie recipe exchange.

Babson's Forecast

occupancy will also provide an apartment for rent.

35. I forecast that large commercial farms should be profitable in 1960, but many operators of small farms, not properly located for suburban growth, will sell to some adjoining farmers.

36. Small farms on well-drained land and near enough to a city for future suburban development will be held. Excesses, such as farms should come along for their present price.

37. Seashore property should be held. The government can print more bonds and corporations can split and declare stock dividends to make more stock; but only God can make seashore property.

38. I forecast that real estate taxes will increase during 1960. Wise are property owners who make their rentals "PLUS ANNUAL TAXES."

39. As the Russians gradually move westward like a glacier, taking ownership of all property, wise people in Europe will sell their present property and businesses and move to the United States.

40. I forecast that revolutions in mining will continue during 1960, and you may find that you are living on a valuable iron deposit, if not on a gold mine!

INVESTMENT OUTLOOK
41. For the first time in the 40 years that I have been preparing these Annual Outlooks, I shall not take a position on the Dow-Jones Average for 1960. I am, however, inclined to believe that the stock market general will hold up at least until after the election. Then there may come a break, which ever party wins the election next November.

42. I forecast 1960 will be the year to buy good bonds. United States Government Bonds yielding 5% are a great bargain. Any one buying them is bound to make money. I also like all non-taxable bonds and also some taxable but convertible bonds.

43. I forecast some chemical stocks will still be a buy in 1960, although they yield little income and are good only as growth stocks.

44. There will be failures by the thousands among those companies now issuing electronics stocks. Electronics issues have become a popular fad. There is also unemployment ahead for many who are now working in electronics factories.

45. I forecast that the stocks of electric power companies, but not those of large cities, will be in greater demand in 1960.

46. In all stocks, I forecast that United Fruit may be most in demand in 1960.

47. I predict that only a few railroads will be popular during 1960, such as Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, and perhaps Southern Pacific and Atchison. I am bearish on Pennsylvania Railroad, New York Central, New Haven, and all short lines except for the Norfolk & Western, my "pet gravity road." I also fear a short railroad strike.

48. Failures will continue to increase during 1960.

49. I forecast that the huge national roadbuilding program will give an uplift to business as it progresses.

50. There will be no marked changes in money rates during 1960. Inflation will gradually continue, but may not be serious during 1960.

The best investment policy during 1960 will continue to be a well-diversified portfolio with one-third in stocks for possible growth profits, one-third in bonds for safety and income, and one-third in cash in order to have funds available for investment in the severe and sudden drop in the stock market which will come some day.

CONCLUSION
The three handicaps to American business in 1960 will be increasing installment purchases, the unfair demands of labor union leaders, and President Eisenhower's physical condition. The three hopes for America are our churches, our schools, and our praying parents.

R. L. D. S. News

The annual Christmas party was held December 17th at the church, beginning at 7:30 p. m. The program was well-rounded, with poems, readings, songs, etc., by children and grownups alike. Group singing of favorite Christmas carols was enjoyed by everyone. Mrs. Bernard Fowler led the singing. The highlights of the evening were the birthday cake for Jesus, surrounded by lighted candles and evergreens, and the presentation of our gifts of money under and on the Christmas tree to help towards the building of our new church. The offertory service was led by pastor Jay Doty, with responses by the Senior League. Santa Claus paid a visit too, and sundae cups and cake were enjoyed by all.

The Christmas Cantata was held December 20th at 7 o'clock. The congregation again joined in on the singing of carols prior to the start of the cantata. Solo parts were sung by Mrs. Norval Stephan, Mrs. Jay Doty, Jean Portwood and Bernard Fowler. Pastor Jay Doty directed the choir and Mrs. Searles Vandenberg played the piano. This indeed was a beautiful rendition of a beautiful cantata.

We hope that everyone the world over has had a very Merry Christmas and that the true meaning of Christmas has not been forsaken. We also wish you a very Happy New Year.

FOR WANT OF A NAIL—

For want of a nail, the shoe was lost. And because the shoe was lost, the horse was lost... and the soldier was lost and, the story goes, the battle was lost.

Sometimes it is that way when the battle is a community's struggle to gain new industry. Sometimes the battle is lost for want of something it would seem every community should possess.

A community's attitude — how all of us feel about our town and the industry in our town — is one of the most important elements considered by an industrial prospect.

Our attitude must be good if we are going to win. It is everyone's responsibility. The attitude of everyone toward our present industry can be our biggest asset or our biggest liability in the community's effort to get new industry.

Join hands with your local industrial development organization and the Michigan Economic Development Department to help your community grow and prosper.

Bow Season Brings Shares Of "Wierdees"

Nearly every bow and arrow deer season produces its share of unusual hunting stories. This year was no exception. Here are some of the best, as reported to the Michigan Bow Hunters Association:

Archers generally account for a few Bear each fall, and two big blackies fell to bowmen this season across the Straits. A Toledo, Ohio, hunter, Richard Nagy, dropped a 373-pound trophy almost on the spot near Naubinway with a 40-yard heart shot, and Robert Snyder of Three Rivers downed a 325-pounder near Lake Gogebic.

But a third hunter who bumped into a bruin in the woods isn't certain if he likes the idea or not. Bill Durban of East Detroit, hunting near Curran, had been in his blind just scant minutes when a big bear sauntered to within a few yards of him. Durban aimed, started to draw his arrow . . . and the bow string broke. The startled bear went one way, with the somewhat shaken archer retreating in the other direction.

Paul Shultz of Akron, Ohio, and Marion Billitter of Ypsilanti shared honors for the most unusual trophy of the season.

Shultz, hunting in a swamp along the AuSable river near Five Channels dam the first week, nearly stepped on a coiled rattlesnake. He managed to draw his bow, putting an arrow through the rattler just as it started to strike.

Billitter's prize was rare, too, for a bowhunter. He killed a coyote which rushed past him about 20 yards away while he was stalking a deer near Mio. The first arrow didn't stop the coyote, and the Ypsilanti archer had to shoot twice more while running after the gray speedster.

Inventive hunters often come up with some weird ideas. One fellow from the south part of the state was nabbed in Lake County by conservation officers after he removed the pellets from a shotgun shell, then slipped an arrow into the barrel ahead of the shell. He didn't even have a hunting license.

Also in Lake County, a cross-bow — just about as illegal a weapon as you can find in Michigan — was confiscated from an Indiana hunter caught—shining deer. It cost him $75. He didn't have a license, either.

Ray Smith, Muskegon Chronicle staff photographer and a Michigan Bow Hunter district governor, hit a doe just before dusk one evening near Curran. He returned to camp, downed a quick meal, grabbed his flashlight and set out to track down his deer. Conservation laws forbid carrying a bow in the woods after dark, so Smith was unarmed.

He found his deer 480 yards from where it had been shot. But someone else had been there first. A bear, apparently frightened away from the kill by the approaching hunter, had attacked and finished off the wounded deer. The blackie — its tracks indicated it was a big one — had pulverized one of the deer's shoulders, batted both sides of the neck a number of times, broken the doe's spine, then ripped a gaping hole in the side to feed.

Smith counted some 30 claw holes in the hide, plus numerous raking marks. Veteran Michigan woodsmen say an incident where a bear tracks down a wounded deer ahead of a hunter is almost unheard of.
